

How abortion is destroying America:

◆ 48.4 million abortions is equivalent to the population of our 60 largest cities. It's also equivalent to the human loss we would have experienced from an all-out nuclear war, yet we are told to ignore that by the pro-abortion ideologues of the left who dominate our culture, our media, our politics and our courts.

◆ It adds up to a 30% loss in the younger generation under age 34. Nearly 1 out of 3 of this generation has been aborted. The toll includes 12 million African-American babies and 36 million others. It amounts to a holocaust against blacks and the young. It is the greatest loss ever inflicted on any generation in history. How can anyone with a conscience stand silent in the face of it?

◆ Abortion has major social and economic costs as well. The estimated loss in downstream tax revenues exceeds $14 trillion -- more than twice our current national debt. It is, in fact, the greatest tax increase of all time. Even if abortion ends, it will take more than a generation to recover. We must begin now.

◆ The annual bill in lost GDP already exceeds $533 billion and will double to over $1 trillion within the next 10 years. Nothing else has ever had a more depressing effect on the U.S. and the world economy. If we want a better world for ourselves and our children, it is time to start raising a great hue and cry.

◆ Abortion is driving the greatest health care crisis in history just ahead. As baby boom nurses and teachers retire, we face a looming shortage of 1 million nurses and 2 million teachers, not to mention critical shortages in such key professions as science, medicine, and higher education. Abortion and more efficient birth control have erased more than half our future human resources. With a growing number of elderly in need of critical care, the only way to ease this crisis is to end abortion now.

◆ Another consequence is a disastrous shift in the supply-demand equation that underlies our economy. Kids contribute to demand even before they are born, but they don't compete in the work force for 20 years. That's why 48 million abortions represent a huge loss in consumer demand. If all those babies had been born, our fast-paced economy would still be going strong; but if we fail to end abortion, America's role as a world economic leader may well come to an end within the next 20 years.

◆ The abortion boom is also behind the coming crisis in Social Security and Medicare. We used to have as many as 16 people in the workforce for every person on Social Security. Soon, there will be only two. To save these programs from bankruptcy, the Congressional Budget Office has estimated that tax rates may have to rise to as high as 82%. Guess who will get to pay the bill? Anybody who pays taxes!

◆ What can you do to help? The answer is not suppression of the truth about abortion or more polarizing political debate. It is communications and education designed to build a pro-life majority by changing hearts and minds . . . by talking honestly and compassionately about the problem in our families and in our churches. If each of us could change just one mind today, we could have a pro-life majority tomorrow. Nothing else will end abortion. Join your voice with ours today.

The Abortion Bomb

In 1968, Paul Ehrlich published his sensational forecast of a world doomed by a population explosion. His book, The Population Bomb, predicted: "In the 1970's and '80's hundreds of millions of people will starve to death in spite of any crash program embarked upon now."

Not one of Ehrlich's predictions came to pass. Instead, the Supreme Court declared abortion on demand the law of the land in 1973, and launched the slaughter of over 48 million American babies --not by famine and starvation, but by deliberate execution at the hands of the abortion industry.

Worldwide, over a billion babies have been aborted. And the social and economic cost has been as devastating as anything Ehrlich predicted based on his paranoid fears of a population explosion that never happened.
